

The Learning Lab program is designed to encourage and support struggling students diagnosed with a learning disability and/or Attention Deficit Disorder. The Learning Lab program does not offer a separate curriculum. The purpose is to guide each student to achieve satisfactory progress and grade level expectations within the established SCS curriculum.

The Learning Lab program supports students by:

Creating a positive, accepting atmosphere that minimizes frustration

Monitoring weekly grade reports in each academic subject, discussing strategies for improvement with student, and contacting parents/teachers when necessary

Providing a liaison between the student, teachers, parents, and administration on behalf of the student

Allowing extended time on tests and in-class essays with the stipulation that all work must be completed in the same day

Providing availability of Learning Lab computers

Allowing opportunity for renewed credit for spelling corrections on tests, if the student's diagnosis so dictates

Explaining directions to complete tests or assignments

Equipping students with appropriate strategies and skills to become self-directed and responsible
